

Why Children Need a Backup Plan

When children feel bad or sad, it is easy for them to feel helpless and to believe that the situation is hopeless. Sometimes, when something happens that makes kids feel bad, they may have to try two or three coping strategies - and keep trying -