

Grants can support activities that generate societal impacts leading to outputs, including, but not limited to:

- Research or policy workshops, symposia or conferences
- Articles or comment pieces in peer publication

